Elks Annual Smoker

Seven high class bouts for a total of 38 rounds of boxing are being presented by the Elks lodge of Canon City the evening of Monday, February 23, the occasion being the thirteenth annual smoker of the lodge, plus the celebration in honor of the payment of the last bond covering the indebtedness of the organization. More than $1,200 has been put into the entertainment which is for the benefit of members of the Canon City and other lodges holding paid up membership cards only.

According to sporting authorities thruout the state it is the biggest and classiest boxing entertainment that has been booked in the state for years, and for the first time in two years "Boss" Parsons, sporting editor of the Denver Post, will leave his desk for an out-of-Denver boxing show. Accompanied by others of the Post staff, Parsons will fly to Canon City in two big Curtis bombers driven by Major Shumaker and Lieut. Kearns of the aviation corps of Ft. Logan. They will do stunts over the business district of Canon City during the afternoon.

There will be no 50-50 purse splits, all of the contests ranging from 60 percent to the winner, to winner take-all basis. A minimum charge of $2 has been placed on the best ringside seats with no war tax as the card is for the benefit of the charity fund of the lodge.

Visit, Passiflora

Thomas Blunt and son Frank came up from Florence last Saturday and in company with L. W. Vidler and a couple of gentlemen from Denver, paid a visit to the property of the Passiflora Mining and Milling company for which we understand a deal is about to be consummated, in which event a new working shaft will be sunk on the property and prospecting on a quite extensive scale will follow. The Passiflora group is one of the most promising mining properties in Colorado and developed at greater depth, will no doubt far exceed the output it has already made in shallow workings, which is $367,000.

More Ore Encountered

In a drift from the bottom of the winze the Bessick Extension shows another promising strike, a streak of lead-silver ore ten inches wide being exposed. The ore runs 20 percent lead and 11 ounces silver. With the several good showings in this mine it is evident that it will some day develop into an important producer.

The feasibility of starting a creamery here is being talked a little again. Conditions are so much more favorable now than in the early days when they had a creamery here, that we believe it could be made a paying proposition. Continue the agitation and maybe the proposition can be made a reality at no great distant day.

Another carload of amoyts, is being loaded this week for shipment to Henry J. Arnold's plant in Denver. We would like to see some of the finished product so that we would know what Mr. Arnold is making of this material.

Time and space forbids our publishing all of county school notes this week, so we will complete the report in our next.

In Justice Court

Harold Reed of Gardner was on Tuesday arraigned in Justice J. E. Smith's court on the charge of having stolen a pair of chaps, but it developed that Reed had not stolen them but had borrowed them from Al Baker's boy. The chaps belonged to one of the Ziener boys. Reed paid the costs and the case was dismissed.

This was followed by another case in which Anna Smith of Rosita got out a search warrant and had Sheriff Manning search the home of Bert Heller who, it was alleged had broken into the cabin of of Emile Tennant, which she was looking after in his absence, and taken therefrom numerous articles. The search revealed none of the articles enumerated, but the sheriff did find a vessel containing three gallons of moonshine whiskey, so he brought Heller to town and had him answer to having same in his possession. He plead guilty and paid a fine of $100 and costs.

Narrow Escape

While on a trip from Ilse to Canon City recently, J. O. Spalding and son Jimmie met with an accident that might have proved serious, but luckily it was otherwise. On one of the worst places in the road the truck they were driving skidded, plunged over the bank and started down a declivity a half mile in length. The occupants of the truck escaped without injury but the machine lost its top and was otherwise damaged. It lodged against a tree some distance down the hill where it remained until next day where it was dragged back up on the road and taken away on its own power.

Earthquake

An earth tremor is reported as having been experienced in the Greenhorn range yesterday at about noon. At Wetmore it is said dishes were shaken off shelves and at Commissioner Clarence Pond's ranch boards were torn loose from his barn. The shock was also felt at Rosita. A loud report, as of great blast was heard, followed by continued rumbling. The shock seems not to have been severe enough to do any great damage.

Joe Ayers Dead

The funeral of the late Joseph Ayres, who died at the county hospital at 11 o'clock Tuesday night, took place from Wilson's undertaking chapel at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon.

The deceased was born in Wisconsin, but spent more than fifty years of his life in Colorado. For more than twenty years he was a resident of Canon City. Before coming here to make his home he lived for a long time in Silver Cliff and vicinity.

Mr. Ayres was 71 years of age and had been in failing health for about a year, altho he did not cease work on account of his waning strength until six weeks or two months ago. His wife was dead and he had no family relatives in this state. He is survived by a married daughter, living at Albion, Wisconsin.

Mr. Ayres was a man of the utmost honesty and kindness of heart and was well liked by those who knew him best. As a citizen he was loyal and patriotic. As a neighbor he was hospitable and obliging. He made his home at the Grand hotel at Ninth and Water streets for years.—Canon City Record, 12th.

Auf Wiedersehen

At the hospitable home of Mr. and Mrs. Mel Manning on Sunday last a farewell dinner was given to Mr. Herman Rasch of Ft. Dodge, Iowa.

The dining-room was a lovely bower of pink and white, the motif for the table decorations being pink hearts. The center-piece for the table was a large, beautiful cake decorated in roses with the word "Farewell" in pink colorings. Covers were laid for twenty-four. The reputation of the host and hostess speaks for the delicious viands that loaded the table.

Late that night the guests departed, wishing Mr. Rasch a safe trip to Iowa and a speedy return to Colorado.

Word was received here Wednesday of the death of Mrs. Peter Hanssen in a hospital at Salida. The deceased, with her husband, resided in this valley for many years. From here they moved to Huerfano county and later to the Western Slope where they finally located at Grand Valley in Garfield county, their present home.

Mrs. Hanssen, a sister of Mrs. J. P. Falkenberg, had many old time friends here who will deplore learning of her passing away.

Interment will be made at Salida we understand.

President Coolidge's "hobby horse" upon which he takes daily exercise in the White House, was enshrined in verse which was read in the House and printed in the Congressional Record. Representative Vinson of Kentucky, author of the verses, read them over the protests of Republican leaders.

CONFIRM APPOINTEES

SEVERAL APPOINTMENTS MADE BY GOV. SWEET CONFIRMED BY SENATE

Denver.—Several appointments made by former Gov. William E. Sweet to the boards of trustees of state institutions have been confirmed by the Senate. These appointments were as follows: Sterling B. Lucy, lieutenant governor, to the board of the State Home for Mental Defectives, term to expire Oct. 8, 1929; Harry Zimmerman, term to expire April 15, 1925, and Fred C. Latchum, term to expire April 15, 1929, to the board of the State Home for the Blind, and E. S. Kessler, term to expire May 9, 1929; Lella B. Chamberlin, term to expire May 21, 1925, and Margaret P. Taustig, term to expire May 6, 1926, to the board of the State Industrial School for Girls.

One of the bitterest fights of the present legislative session is expected over Senate Bill No. 110, which would permit races to be held in the State, with the pari-mutuel system of betting. The bill, which was introduced by Senators Saunders of Denver, W. W. King of Cripple Creek and Grigsby of Pueblo, is being considered by the Senate Stock Committee, of which Senator Collier of Rifle is chairman.

With one minor amendment, a bill which would make any person found guilty of possession of a still for the illegal manufacture of intoxicants liable to a penitentiary sentence was passed by the Senate on third and final reading. At the same time the Senate adopted a second bill relating to the prohibition law which would make any person found guilty of the illegal purchase of intoxicants liable to punishment for a misdemeanor. Both bills were pushed thru in the face of objection centering largely in the Democratic side of the Senate.

The State Senate, by passing House Bill No. 445 on third reading, made ready for Governor Morley's signature the first administration measure, which abolishes the State Board of Horse-shoe Examiners. The Senate also passed a measure by Senator Elliot requiring for the State licensing of all public dance halls, and a measure by Senator Fairfield, which provides that all leases and renewals be made in writing.

The Senate passed on second reading a bill which would place the issuing of automobile licenses for Denver in the hands of the county treasurer instead of the secretary of state. Action on the bill came after protracted and heated debate, and after a tie vote was cast by Lieut. Gov. Sterling B. Lucy of Grand Junction, a Democrat.

The House passed without a dissenting vote on second reading, H. C. R. No. 7, by Johnson, providing a referendum at the next general election on the question of repealing the constitutional amendment creating the Civil Service Commission and the classified civil service of the state.

Sizer, an attorney of Monett, Mo., in connection with an alleged $10,000 conspiracy directed at the First National Bank of Olathe. Sizer, four prominent oil men and James E. When workmen razing a building erected in the seventies unearthed a small chest containing fifty silver dollars, the neighborhood was stirred with excitement. Several more of the dollars were found in the excavation. Now they have been found to be made of lead.

Colorado Springs.—What might have resulted in a serious railroad disaster, with a heavy toll of life, was narrowly averted by the alertness of two detectives on the Uintah street trestle here. Fort Collins.—The center of the dairy industry is rapidly moving westward and Colorado is destined to assume a leading position in this industry. Better, not more, cows is the chief need of this industry in Colorado. These statements were made by Dr. Charles A. Lory, president of the Colorado Agricultural College at Fort Collins, in a talk before the annual session of the agricultural committee of the Colorado Bankers' Association meeting in the Denver Chamber of Commerce at Denver.

Back Bad Since the Grip?

Has a cold or grip sapped your strength? Do you suffer constant backache, feel nervous and depressed? Then look to your kidneys! Many cases of kidney trouble are the result of infectious disease. The kidneys often break down under the strain of filtering disease-created poisons from the blood. That's why a cold or grip often leaves backache, headaches, dizzy spells and irregular kidney action. Help your weakened kidneys with Doan's Pills. Doan's have helped thousands and should help you. Ask your neighbor!

A Colorado Case Mrs. Jesse Ault 218 W. Center St. Colorado Springs, Colo. There was a soreness through the small of my back when sharp pains darted through my kidneys. These catches came on me suddenly and it was difficult to stoop. Dizzy spells were frequent and I had backaches. But one box of Doan's Pills drove all these symptoms from me.

MAIL PILOTS TRAVEL 1,289,352 MILES IN SIX MONTHS

Washington.—The forty-six air mail pilots in the postal service flew 1,288,850 miles in the last six months of 1924. Postmaster General New announced here a few days ago. These postmen of the air, since they first entered the Postoffice Department have flown a total of 6,002,657 miles, or approximately 265 times around the earth.

The pilots flew 437,387 miles at night and 902,363 miles in the daytime. Elliot Lewis holds the record for night flying with 23,410 miles in darkness. Pilot Short has the greatest amount of mileage to his credit, having covered 39,376 miles, flying both day and night.

The parachute flare is the best safety measure in use for night flying, according to reports received from the air mail pilots. Each plane is provided with two flares in case one does not work. All planes assigned to fly between Cleveland, Ohio, and Rock Springs, Wyo., are so equipped.

Story of Inheritance Untrue Livingston, Mont.—Miss Esther Johnson of this city was taken to the State Hospital for the Insane following a decision adjudging her insane. She is the victim of a toxic golfer, it was said, and is expected to recover rapidly. Miss Johnson, a student at the University of Washington in Seattle, created a sensation here recently when she claimed to have inherited $2,000,000 from an aged Detroit millionaire, whom she had nursed at a tourist camp in Yellowstone National park. All efforts to verify her story failed.

French Aviator Killed in Africa Ninney, French West Africa.—The second plane of the French air mission to Lake Tchad crashed on taking off here, and Sergeant Vuillemin, the pilot, was killed. Colonel Vuillemin, commanding the plane, Captain Dagnaux, and Sergeant Knoch were injured.

Fleischmann Will Filed Minocota, N. Y.—Julius Fleischmann, Jr., and Mrs. Henry C. Yelzer, Jr., children of the late Julius Fleischmann, yeast magnate, are the chief beneficiaries under his will filed here. Other bequests include a $200,000 trust fund for educational or charitable purposes, preferably in Cincinnati, Mr. Fleischmann's former home; 20,000 shares of stock of the Fleischmann company to certain employees and a $100,000 trust fund for a cousin, William N. Fleischmann of New York City.

League Advances New Peace Plan Geneva.—The separation of disarmament from compulsory arbitration and security is the latest idea advanced in League of Nations circles here as the one possible development in the case of the famous Geneva peace proposal, which now is being discussed between the English mother country and her dominions and commonwealths. This idea, if carried out, would give an entirely new angle to the international struggle which is being waged to outlaw war.

Commons Votes Wales Expenses London.—The House of Commons, by a vote of 295 against 87, passed a supplementary budget estimate to cover the expenses of the forthcoming trip of the Prince of Wales to South Africa and South America. The vote was taken after the chamber had rejected a motion by David Kirkwood, Labor member for the Dumfriesshire Burghs to reduce the £15,000 which it has been estimated will be required for the trip. The vote on this question was 304 against 90.

Lacks the Greatest Joys of Life

Many Wives are Childless Because of Ill Health. Read How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Mrs. Benedict

MRS. MARY R. BENEDICT
812 PAYSON STREET, KEWANEE, ILLINOIS
Kewanee, Illinois. — "When I was married about a year and a half I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because of ill health. I did not have any children. I now have two healthy little girls and I am sure I would not have had them had it not been for your medicine. Last spring and summer I got all run down, irregular, and I had awful headaches, and my back and side hurt me so that I could stay up only a short time. My limbs would get so tired and ache till I could cry. I started to take the Vegetable Compound again and used the Sanative Wash, and it was not long till I was relieved. Now I do my own work and help others. I sure praise Lydia E. Pinkham's medicines to any one I meet that is suffering from similar troubles. I think if mothers with girls would give it to them when they come to womanhood it would make them stronger. People who have known me all my life are astonished to see me now as I was always sickly when in my teens until I started taking the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. MARY R. BENEDICT, 812 Payson Street, Kewanee, Ill.

Has a Beautiful Baby Girl Now

Bridport, Vermont. — "In the first place I wanted a baby, but none seemed to come to me. I just love children and my husband is away all day, so I was not happy at all. A doctor told me I could not have a baby until I went to a hospital. But my sisters said, 'Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and you will be O.K.' I was nervous, had organic weakness, with backache, headache, and no strength. I had been in bed nearly a week when I began taking the Vegetable Compound. It was all that ever helped me and I just wish you could see my beautiful baby girl. I am fine now, and so is she. I am still taking the medicine as it keeps me well. You may be sure I am recommending the Vegetable Compound and always will."—Mrs. A. W. Howe, Bridport, Vermont.

Apples are one of the best sources of iron for the diet. Raisins have been advertised for their iron content. Washington and St. Paul's Chapel

Old New York Edifice Where Our First President Worshipped.

St. Paul's chapel, almost lost now in the maze of tall buildings that rise like a great forest in lower New York, celebrated its one hundred and fifty-eighth anniversary last year. Parishioners journeyed "all the way down" to the old church, just as its first parishioners plodded "all the way up" to its portals when they were first thrown open in 1768. Then St. Paul's was so far uptown that the selection of its site was almost a scandal.

The New York Gazette is authority for the statement that many good citizens of the day "scrupled not to comment with just severity on the folly of that visionary set of men, the vestry of Trinity church, who had put so large and ornate a building in a place so remote and sequestered, so difficult of access and to which the population could never extend." And one woman, writing to a friend, said that St. Paul's was not even in the city, but "far outside, on the banks of the Hudson."

Those were days when New York's population totaled only 20,000. Broadway wasn't even a street. It was hardly a road. Trees covered the region. Cows were milked in a barn where the towering "Equitable" building now stands. Not only has New York's population extended to St. Paul's since then, but it has gone so far beyond that to most of its congregation the Sunday trip to the chapel at Broadway and Vesey street is a long one downtown.

October 30, 1768, however, it meant a long walk north to those who did not have carriages. And there was not a little grumbling among those who plodded their way to the out-of-the-way chapel erected in the wheat fields of the old Annetje Jans farm.

Notable Occasion. The dedication was quite an occasion. There was a band to supplement the vocal music of the church service, and the conductor, Mr. Tucker, got a bonus of 16 pounds for the excellent manner in which he handled the musical arrangements. Among the vestrymen who gathered in their pews for the first service were Elias Desbrosses, Joseph Read and Andrew Barclay, all of whom now have streets named in their honor.

Dr. Samuel Auchmuty preached the sermon that morning, beaming down on a well-filled church. He was extremely popular in those days, although later this popularity was threatened. When the Revolution came, old Doctor Auchmuty remained loyal to his British king and every Sunday insisted on reading prayers for his monarch. There were protests, and finally Lord Sterling, siding with Washington, forbade the prayers. Whereupon Doctor Auchmuty shut up St. Paul's chapel, and with it Trinity and St. George's, went over to the "Jerseys" and held services within the British lines.

It was not Doctor Auchmuty who planned St. Paul's chapel, Doctor Barclay, who had been a missionary to the Mohawk Indians up where the thriving city of Newburgh, N. Y., now stands, was in charge of that work. The old Trinity, built in 1698, and St. George's, on Beekman street, both of which were later destroyed by fire, were then standing. But Doctor Barclay felt that another chapel was needed, and he carried on his campaign within the church until funds were got aside for this purpose.

He went "wpy out into the fields in selecting a site for this new edifice, and perhaps for that reason he chose as his model old St. Martin's-in-the-Fields, a famous old church in what is now the heart of London, but which, originally was erected in the fields, too. The corner stone was laid on May 14, 1764. Three months after that Doctor Barclay died and Doctor Auchmuty took up his work and finished the edifice. The great fire of 1776 left St. Paul's as the principal Episcopal seat of worship.

Visits of Notables.

The story of a visit to the chapel by George Washington immediately after his inauguration in New York in 1789 is often told and the first President was often a worshiper there. Governor Clinton, Benedict Arnold and many other historical figures have sat in its pews, including Edward VII of England when he was prince of Wales.

Many times have the quaint epitaphs which mark the old graveyard in the churchyard been quoted. Here stenographers and office girls who work in downtown New York gather now at the noon hour for picnic lunches. Perhaps they wonder why so many girls were named Dorcas in that distant day, as shown by the tombstones. There are no Dorcasses among those bob-haired visitors of today.

In that old churchyard for many years stood the famous Washington elm, to which the first President tied his horses when he drove in his fine carriage to church. The last of those was felled in 1906, when it had become so old and decrepit that it endangered the lives of those who passed under it. It still contained the old hitching ring that Washington used, but the growth of the tree had enveloped it and it lay embedded under the bark.

Other elms had gone long since, one of them, however, not without a battle. It was a stately tree in the rear of the churchyard and for years it had been decaying. When, however, plans were made to cut it down G. P. Morris wrote in poetic wrath his famous verse, "Woodman, Spare That Tree." Thousands of persons have recited the poem without knowing the tree it was meant to save. The tree was spared for a time, according to tradition, but later it, too, came down to make room for the large church house which now stretches across the entire west end of the churchyard.

In the early part of the Nineteenth century cattle used to browse among the elms of the churchyard. There is a story, often told, that one fine Sunday a horse wandering about the near-by fields felt the urge of religion, marched into the edifice, down the aisle and right up to the pulpit, to the surprise and consternation of the congregation and the rector. But that was before lower New York was the maze of skyscrapers which cast their shadows on old St. Paul's today.

COLLINS FOUND DEAD IN CAVE

RESCUE CREW REACHES CAPTIVE AFTER BEING ENTOMBED SEVENTEEN DAYS.

PINIONED BY BOULDER

BODY OF FLOYD COLLINS IS FOUND HELD FAST BY ROCK SLIDE

Cave, City, Ky.—The quest is over. Mother earth, after clinging grimly, in life and in death to Floyd Collins, for more than seventeen days, surrendered and without warning opened a tiny hole between a rescue shaft and the natural tomb of the cave explorer.

Peering down this tiny fissure into Sand cave, the brave workers who had waged an unequal combat with the natural forces of the earth, saw that what they had fought so hard for had been lost.

Collins was dead. After describing the break through the roof of Sand cave and telling of the preliminary investigation of it by Albert Marshall, the statement said: "His game little partner, Ed Brenner of Cincinnati, whose work has been very conspicuous and of untold value by reason of his small stature and great strength and iron nerve, went down headforemost into his hazardous pit and with a light closely examined the face and position of the man we understand is Floyd Collins and called up to Mr. Carmichael, five feet above him, that the man was cold and apparently dead."

The bulletin was signed by Brig. Gen. H. H. Denhardt, H. T. Carmichael and M. E. S. Posey.

From the early days of the cave man's entrapment, when friends and neighbors made futile efforts to extricate him, down through the days that followed there was waged a great struggle with nature and the elements.

Collins was found firmly pinioned by a boulder which fell on his foot as he was emerging from the cave. Friends and neighbors rushed to his aid and time after time rescue parties went into the narrow, crooked passage and wormed their way along its slimy course to where the man was imprisoned. Their efforts to get him out were unavailing and others from the outside came in.

Miners from the nearby coal fields and from the asphalt mines of the Kentucky Rock Asphalt Company at Kyrock, Ky., flocked to the rescue. Newspaper men, consigned to the cave to "cover" the story, made that an incidental part of their endeavors and turned their first attention to the helpless man.

Gov. W. J. Fields sent Mr. Posey to the scene as his personal representative. State troops followed, a little handful of them at first and then General Denhardt, commander of the Seventy-fifth infantry brigade, was ordered to take command of the situation.

Kellogg Confirmed by Senate

Washington.—The nomination of Frank B. Kellogg of Minnesota to succeed Charles E. Hughes as secretary of state was confirmed by the Senate. Action was taken unexpectedly and without consideration of the nomination by the foreign relations committee. No opposition was offered to confirmation, senators said, and Senate action came with practically no discussion.

Miner Wins Millions in Court

San Francisco, Calif.—George Campbell Carson, 53, itinerant miner and "desert rat" as he termed himself in his grim humor, had little cause to complain of "the law's delay." A decision of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals here changed Carson's status by making him a potential multi-millionaire. The high court's decree put Carson in possession of the rewards of his inventive genius and nineteen years of struggle and sacrifice, he avers, by holding the American Smelting and Refining Company had infringed patents of his own devices to facilitate copper ore smelting.

Bill Haywood Has Not Returned

Moscow.—Reports from America that "Big Bill" Haywood, the former I. W. W. leader, had returned to the United States, are untrue. He is employed as a traveling speaker by the International Society for the Relief of Workmen in Prisons Abroad and has just completed a tour of Southern Russia in which he made sixty-five speeches.

Carmichael Praises Heroic Workers

Cave City, Ky.—H. T. Carmichael, who had been in charge of Floyd Collins' rescue volunteers, expressed his admiration of the unselfish and unceasing labor of the men, "from the lowliest water boy to the man who was about to receive his A. B. degree." He said this experience had strengthened his faith in human nature. "After twenty-odd years of construction work I have never seen a group of unorganized men do work so well and quickly," said Mr. Carmichael.

Metal Mining Improves
The February report on Quince Record, director of the U. S. Employment service for the Mountain district, shows that there will be an upward trend in metal mining in Colorado during the next few months. The report states: "Increased metal mining activities in several mining districts, more especially at Cripple Creek and Leadville; both camps affording more employment for experienced miners at present than for some time past. Unwinding of the deep metal mines at Leadville, under way for several months, is nearing completion, and when finished, probably within thirty days, will afford employment to a moderate number of additional workers. Metal mine labor at Cripple Creek is ample, except for skilled metal (gold) miners. Coal mining activities and employment in connection, considerably increased during the past thirty days, particularly noted at Trinidad and Colorado Springs."

The Colorado State Board of Immigration has sent the Tribune a weekly newsletter for the Lord knows how long with nothing in it but items about oil and gas wells of Colorado. This news is of no particular value to us. Custer county is a farming and mining country and if the board wants us to recognize its hope it will have to devote its efforts to agricultural and mining industries.

From a study conducted by the Forest Service during the past three years on the comparative cost of grazing cattle on national forests and other similar ranges, it has been determined that the average cost on forest ranges is about 72 cents per head per annum for cattle, compared to $1.20 paid by stockman for the same period on similar private lands.

Floyd Collins, trapped by a falling rock in a cave at Cave City, Kentucky, was finally rescued this week, but not alive. A few hard-rock miners from Colorado would have gotten on the man out in a very few days and saved his life.

Kit Carson Rock Now Rests on Pedestal in San Isabel
"The lost has been found, the dead has come to life." The famous old Kit Carson rock which probably since the beginning of time stood in the Hardscrabble creek bed, just below the junction of the North and South Hardscrabble and about one mile above the little village of Greenwood nestling at the foot of the lovely Greenhorn mountains, disappeared some time last winter.
Many years ago, old settlers in that region had discovered the signature of Kit Carson on that rock, and the name of two of his companions. Worn by the weather; the winds, snows and rains of days and years, only parts of the three names are now discernible. They are "Kit C—"; "Juan —"; and "Chit W—".
Naturally the settlers in that region were proud of the old land mark, left by their pioneer brother, and the rock was much noted and many were the legends, romantic and historical, woven about its rugged form, with the famous old pioneer and scout always as the principal character.
Tales of his travels and adventures throughout this part of the country have been handed down through the years and through the generations.
Suddenly last winter it was discovered that the rock had been moved. Great was the consternation of the inhabitants of the region when they found that their ancient landmark, the rock around which probably much of their existence had been built, was gone.
Since the rock was located in the San Isabel National Forest, forest officials were immediately notified, and a quiet search was at once instigated.
After several months the rock has been returned, "Whither it went— from whence it has returned"—it all remains a deep, dark mystery, except perhaps to forest officials; but as the old saying goes, "Justice will be done," and there the rock stands.
It is not in quite the same location as formerly however, since the San Isabel Public Recreation association and the Florence chamber of commerce have taken it upon themselves to see that no further harm comes to their old landmark. It has been moved up out of the creek bed, and set up along the side of the road, has been placed on a base, and fixed up in such a manner that it will tell all passers by that it is the property of the San Isabel national forest and therefore not to be tampered with.—Pueblo Chieftain, Feb. 8.

COUNTY SCHOOLS
The February meeting of the Custer Co. Teachers' Association was well attended, although a snow storm was raging. The following teachers were present: Rose M. Koogle, Frances Kettle, Catherine Merriam, Esther Mueller, Edenia Hall, Alice Frank, Mildred Callaghan, Beulah Bloyd, Margaret Klesler, Anna Loons, Mary H. Bell, J. O. Alexander, C. S. Elthmond and Wesley Koogle. At the January meeting the Association voted to give during "County School Days" a pageant entitled "Custer Co., yesterday and today." The committee reported at the last meeting, that about 200 people including school children and grown folks, would be asked to take part in the pageant.
The Querida and Augusta schools have been closed for a few weeks but are open now with Mrs. Koch and Miss Martin as teachers.
It was the privilege of the Ula community and some other to listen to a most pleasing entertainment when on last Friday night Miss Callaghan presented her pupils in a program of music and plays. The audience was enthusiastic and showed its appreciation of the efforts of both teacher and pupils, to give something they have not had in years, a school program. The pupils showed both ability and training. The fact that there was but one boy in the school did not affect the successful putting on of three plays, as one of the girls played the boy perfectly. "Mischievous Mattie" was a most amusing playlet. "Aunt Zable" in Moral Suspicion" was great. The last, a comedy, was the hit of the evening. The four young people carried out their parts well. The recitations were above the average and showed talent in that work.
The school contest for the state spelling contest will be held on Friday, Feb. 27th. The teachers select 100 words for their school contest. County contest will be held Saturday, April 4th.
